Good morning! It's Irene Qiu from 731 and I'm here this Thoughtful Thursday on behalf of the S.E.A.L Team.

Did you know today is National Youth Day? National Youth Day is the ideal opportunity to recognize and honor the young people around the world. Young people are not only our nation's future; they are also one of the major forces driving social change and advancement. Our youth can be led toward development in which they are inspired to work toward realizing their ambitions, which may ultimately result in revolutionary successes. During our youth we create a lot of social connections during this period of our life and form a personality that characterizes our generation.

Thanks for listening have a Toddler to Teen Thursday 😊
